Synopsis

The Kota Research Center is a unique sports analysis facility that aims to change today's performance for the future. The center was co-founded by Dr. Gideon Ariel, a computer bio-mechanist from Massachusetts, who developed a sophisticated system for quantifying human movement. The founders are excited about the potential of the center and anticipate mind-blowing advancements in the field of sports analysis in the next 5 to 30 years. They believe that the center will provide valuable information to coaches and reveal the real truth about human movement in sports.

	0.	00:00:30	Welcome to the Kota Research Center.
	1.	00:00:59	A unique sports analysis facility where today's performance has changed for the future.
	2.	00:01:15	I don't see that. It's funny. You're telling me the guy's breaking to the left and this knee is coming up.
	3.	00:01:20	I find the knee is staying down. He's breaking to the right.
	4.	00:01:23	I got very interested in high-speed cinematography.
	5.	00:01:26	That's the thing that really was beneficial to me. Dr. Gideon Ariel, computer bio-mechanist in Massachusetts,
	6.	00:01:33	out on the east coast saw the story and we got together.
	7.	00:01:37	He had developed a very sophisticated system for quantifying human movement.
	8.	00:01:45	I was so intrigued. I could hardly believe it. I was so excited. I could hardly talk.
	9.	00:01:49	By the way, we were already talking about what's going to happen 25 years from now, 30 years from now.
	10.	00:01:55	Even five years from now, the mind-blowing things that are going to take place and the good information
	11.	00:01:59	that's going to be available to coaches and the real truth.
	12.	00:02:02	Kyle, help!

Frame	#	Time	Spoken text
	13.	00:02:04	And that was the beginning of the Kota Research Center, which Dr. Gideon Ariel and I co-founded at Kota de Casa.
	14.	00:02:10	A unique sports analysis facility where today's performance has changed for the future.
	15.	00:02:20	MUSIC
